

13th & 14th
November 2020

@LTSFestival #LetsTalkScience #ScienceWeek

Armagh Observatory and Planetarium

The Armagh Observatory is the oldest scientific institution in Northern Ireland and the oldest operating Planetarium in the UK and Ireland!

Armagh Observatory and Planetarium has rich scientific history at the forefront of astronomy. The Armagh Observatory and Planetarium (AOP) delivers internationally recognised research in astronomy and related sciences and vibrant educational and outreach programmes for all ages. In addition to their set dome shows, they also engage in live, interactive education for schools and the public.

www.armagh.space
@ArmaghPlanet

Events at the Let's Talk Science Festival

Science at Home Video: Meteorites

🧪 Watch this amazing video to learn all about meteorites. For children, families and general public

Science at Home Video: International Space Station

🧪 Watch this engaging video to learn all about the ISS. For children, families and general public

Cosmic Classroom Video

🧪 Primary school classes can explore the wonders of our solar system

