Centre for Ocean Energy Research, Maynooth University

Maynooth University is one of Ireland's leading academic institutions, with an interdisciplinary approach to research which its world-class academics bring to bear in tackling some of the most fundamental challenges facing society today.

The Centre for Ocean Energy Research conducts innovative research on wave energy, designing control systems to maximise the economic performance of wave energy devices. Wave energy has a big future in combating climate change and has the opportunity to improve Ireland's energy security.
